Numbered Order: Using numerical or alphabetical order is the common way of listing the items in an answer sheet. For example, the sheet should start with number one down to number 50 if there are 50 items in the test. Because if there is no numbered order, examinees may end up confused about where to put their first down to the last answers.

Answer sheets are used for competitive exams, where the candidates have to fill them up as per a separate question paper provided to them. Answer sheets can also be used to run a survey or for evaluating something. Answer sheet template, available with us can be downloaded in different formats, which include Word, Excel and even PDF.
